

Generazione Zero is an association born 2012, after an Youth in Action project (1.2) supported by an informal group. It's been working principally in the field of journalism with different webmags, especially in raising awareness against the mafia and for human rights. We've an extensive experience in young's people training (secondary school and universities) and we've recently started to focus on research too (social sciences, law, communication). During its life the association, born in the South of Sicily, followed the path of its supporters spreading its activity in different regions of Italy, making up events inside the Piacenza's Festival del Diritto (Emilia-Romagna), the Torino's Biennale della Democrazia (Piedmont) and being in particular involved in the Rome's no-profit networks.

- In the district of Ragusa (Sicily) which is our national focal point, we have been creating our own network with schools, unions, churches, catholic and environmentalist organizations, social cooperatives, sport clubs, public bodies willing to reach popular and subaltern classes. During 2014/2015 we co-organized and managed the coaching of the course 'Gutenberg 2.0' for Social Communication with the Ragusa's section of 'Libera. Associazioni, nomi e numeri contro le mafie' and the Social Communication Office of the Ragusa's Diocese. In 2015/2016 we're contributing to the local project for refugees of the social coop 'Nostra Signora di Gulfi' privileging exploitation's problems and education against mafia with the sub-project 'Chi siamo, chi siete?'. In 2017, with the project 'Legaliblei', funded by Sicilian Region's 'CreAzione Giovani', we created a new working area on sport, informal education and social inclusion. In 2018, we developed the "AOS – Agitarsi, Organizzarsi, Studiare" project, thanks to the refunds of the MPs of the political party Sinistra Italiana, an educational and journalistic project which was attended in particular by second-generation high school students. Moreover, we developed a partnership with two high schools of Ragusa in order to involve traineeship students in our social activities. During the year we're used to organize an event called 'Agromafie', about mafia and its linkings with rural activities. For the last one's edition we've written and printed a booklet about the Iblei's territory and its sources in wine and food industry and tourism with the support of local public bodies. We also contribute to organize 21st march local version of the national day against mafia in Ragusa and the 19st july's provincial commemoration day for Paolo Borsellino in the same city.
- In Rome, which is our second national center, we have been developing since 2016 the project "Radio Impegno" together with other 50 local and national associations, a live streaming late-night radio project focused o antimafia, legality education, social integration in a suburb of the capital. Furthermore, we developed our journalistic activity, building a working group of young freelance journalists and we launched a traineeship partnership with the Roma Tre University in order to involve university students in our activities.
- In Turin in 2015 we promoted the project about migrations 'Muri e confini' with the student association 'Collettivo di Giurisprudenza', funded by the University of Turin.

- In Piacenza in 2013/2014 we managed the Youth in Action (1.2) project 'La dignità umana come valore per la giustizia europea' about the European Court of Human Rights and we participated to the Festival del Diritto.
- In Catania, Rome and Turin in 2016-2019 we developed three different working groups for the project "Europe in Translation" in partnership with the Head of the Case-Law Information and Publications Division of ECHR, which aims to translate the Information Notes drafted by the ECHR from English and French in Italian language.
- In Alessandria and Verona in 2017 we promoted the project "L'Europa dei Diritti" in partnership with the local Eurodirect offices, aimed to prepare and to inform both University students and the civil society about the topic of the Human Rights in Europe, of the European justice and of the value of the human dignity

We've a strict partnership with the informal group 'Scuola Permanente', with which we've already started a focus on humanities research and its dissemination of results. We've arranged events with another informal group, 'Scuola della Decrescita', whose activity are close ot ours.

We're also interested in publishing and translation.

Owned by the association, our two webmags play different rules: generazionezero.org is based on inquiries and opinion articles with a particular attention to the ecomafia, while dirittieuropa.it works on the international law and produces a periodic review of the European Court of Human Rights' information notes.
