The Scientific Consortium for Researches & Development

The Scientific Consortium for Researches & Development was founded in 2006 as a non-profitable, non governmental developmental and voluntary institution of civil society. The Consortium and since its establishment has conveyed the message of executing effective and non-profitable schemes that meet the developmental needs, in the Palestinian community via the guidance of the outcome of the scientific Researches related to development issues . The consortium engulfs a number of academic scholars and experts in various specializations in order to work jointly in accomplishing the Consortium message and objectives.

Currently the Consortium is embarking on executing vital and significant development projects in Jerusalem and all Palestinian districts and governorates contributing in enhancing the steadfastness of the Palestinians and the provision of assets necessary for the development uplifting and systematic progress . Moreover, the Consortium concentrates on developing human resources, believing that man is the core of that development process, encourages researches and development concerned studies making use of the results and recommendations of the specific systematic scientific researches in carrying out projects.

The Consortium also contributes to the process of developing the Palestinian Community social welfare. One of the Consortium major concerns is the development of the infrastructure as well as developing hygienic, educational and development programs and building up the capabilities of civil instructions, reinforce the social participation and protect the rights of man.

The establishment of this consortium was the outcome of the joint efforts of a group of Palestinian intellectuals working in the fields of development and evolution programs in the Palestinian society driven by the belief for the necessity of enhancing communications between the Palestinian society and the governmental and non-governmental institutions sponsoring the needs of the society.

The Vision:

The Scientific Consortium is entitled to be a highly-developed pioneer institute in the realm of executing developmental projects of high quality based on solid efficient, scientific and professional standards so that these projects would leave behind a tangible legacy in promoting the Palestinian development process.

The Message

The adoption of policies and development models on the basis of continual evaluation benefiting from the results and recommendations of scientific researches in order to enable the marginalized social groups to integrate and promote the major development sectors in the Palestinian society.

The Consortium branches (Headquarters, the old city of Jerusalem)

The Scientific Consortium for researches & development inaugurated its central headquarters in the old city of Jerusalem directed by the conviction and faith for this necessity of contribution to gratifying the developmental needs of the city residents especially that Jerusalem is an inseparable part of the Palestinian land occupied in 1967.

Thus, the Palestinians living there are entitled to have their political, social and economic conditions improved.

The technological and academic training center:

The Scientific Consortium originated the center of technological and academic training for the purpose of executing professional, highly –profiled training courses in both the academic and technological fields, responsive to employment needs in order to provide job opportunities to young groups of both sexes, enabling the qualified nationalistic human power to recognize and realize the need of the development for highly skilled technicians with practical capability to help the young join the field of work that rely on the energetic nature of the educated to keep up with the promotion and progress in the various artistic fields.

Early Childhood Patronage Center (Kinder garden and Nursery)

The Scientific Consortium together with the programs of Early Childhood Patronage carried out in its office in the town of Kofr Aqabs recline on the idea of reinforcing systematic learning to encourage the child's excellence taking into consideration the importance of gratifying the child's emotional, social, mental and psychological growth in accordance with the age stage requirements, paving the way for the child to express himself through playing and the reliable activities that balance between the development of the child's capabilities and the realization of his growth needs in all levels and dimensions.

On the other hand the consortium embarks on building up the capabilities of the children's nurses in nurseries and kinder gardens around the year, within the modern professional bases so that it is positively reflected on promoting performance in the children's developmental programs.

The Fields of the Consortium function:

“Building the capabilities of the institutions of civil society.”

The Consortium of these capabilities can be achieved through upraising the abilities of the staff working at these institutions via the necessary training that will contribute to strengthening them to play a more effective role in their local community.

The implementation of the recommendations of studies and researches in the developmental fields:

The consortium function is not only confined to carrying out studies and researches but also has a role in activating the results of the specific scientific and developmental researches executed by professional scholars and researchers through the guidance of these results and recommendations in implementing projects, programs and developmental activities that serve the marginalized poor social groups. Moreover, the consortium passes the recommendations to the political and developmental decision makers and pressure for its implementations at the national level.

“Linking and pressure to enhance the communal participation.”

This includes both levels the local and the international to ensure the effective contribution and enhance the communal participation of the institutions of civil society for the women, the children and the young and the marginalized social groups, this kind of link and pressure also includes supporting the rights of man through numerous linking patterns.
