

Activity report 2020

Context, origin and objectives of the project:

The project of Strengthening the capacities of young people in concerted local development was initiated in accordance with the vocation and action plan of the Association FORPAJA -Mauritanie. Due to the increase in violence and insecurity in the outskirts of Nouakchott. Young people are in fact the most affected by this phenomenon. Excluded from political processes, deprived of viable employment prospects and suffering from a growing sense of hopelessness, young people are easy targets for radicalized recruiters which facilitates their involvement in juvenile delinquency, drugs and organized crime. Attacks linked to religiously-inspired violent extremism have reached unprecedented levels, and their repercussions are far-reaching. This project will help prevent and fight against the surge of violent extremism in the peaceful neighborhoods of EL-MINA, NEKTEK and Arafat and Dar Naim. Finally, the project defines a development intervention aimed at combating violent extremism since security interventions alone are insufficient. It should be noted that this project focuses on the immediate and underlying causes of violent extremism, and aims to support and complement the FORPAJA (Panafrikan Forum of Associative Youth) program.

The initiative was justified by the existence of several constraints in terms of community involvement in local governance. This insufficiency, which affects the majority of municipalities, results from several combined factors, which end up positioning the communities on the margins of any opportunity for participatory and inclusive development.

In this case, it is mainly:

- A lack of awareness and supervision of the populations;
- A low level of operational organization for young people;
- A lack of skills among young people in general, in the fields of advocacy and social mobilization.

- From a lack of implementation of projects to fight against violent extremism, delinquency juvenile.

This situation therefore led the FORPAJA -Mauritanie Association to launch programs, allowing an intervention to be carried out, the objectives of which were defined as follows:

- Strengthening citizen awareness among young people
- Capacity building campaign on juvenile delinquency, drugs, organized crime, violent extremism in the outskirts of Nouakchott
- Capacity building of young people in "Advocacy and mobilization against delinquency, violence against women and for participatory local development";

Prevention and reduction of community risks (floods and seasonal epidemics, insecurity, drugs, STIs / HIV / AIDS, illegal immigration, violent extremism, etc.);

The NGO is to draw up strategies and policies to fight against the dangers of violent extremism and the involvement of young people in the vagaries of youth. strengthening socio-economic conditions, rule of law and security, development-oriented demobilization and reintegration strategies, effective use of media and technology, community resilience and cohesion, and gender-responsive initiatives. causes violent extremism to have different effects on men, women, boys and girls Social, economic and political gaps create a climate of instability between social classes Inequalities social, injustices and tensions return populations to a sheer vulnerability.

The international community and states must prioritize reductions in injustices and inequalities.
